Tell Your Restaurant Story

Whether you are a customer, employee, or owner, there's a restaurant in our community that you call home. Throughout this crisis, restaurants continue to face unprecedented challenges. As a result, many restaurants have had to close their doors for good while others are fighting to stay afloat. More must be done for lawmakers to visualize the struggles restaurants face on a daily and long-term basis.

That's why Alaska CHARR and the National Restaurant Association are asking you to make your voice heard right now by recording a quick video. Everyone has a unique story to share about the restaurant industry during this crisis. Click here for directions on how to record and submit your story. Tell Congress that restaurants need relief now – and every day they wait more restaurants will close.

Amplifying our industry's message starts with you – thanks for taking the time to tell your story.
