ALASKA CHARR UPDATES

NATIONAL PROSTART INVITATIONAL 2022

After two years, the National ProStart Invitational Competition returns live and in person. This year, the Alaska hospitality industry is represented by Chugiak High School, competing in the management competition, and Mat-Su Career and Technical School in the culinary competition. These students have worked hard all year long and have put in countless hours in the kitchen to get to this point! Each team topped their competition in our state through dedication, practice, and perseverance. Please join us in sending well wishes to our two outstanding teams competing this weekend in Washington DC!

PAFC ADVOCATES PUSH FOR EWEA

More than 500 industry advocates met with congressional leaders during last week's Public Affairs Conference and made sure legislators understood the imperative need to pass The Essential Workers for Economic Advancement Act. EWEA would expand the country's workforce specifically in occupations that provide growth opportunities and career paths - that don't require a college degree - by creating a 3-year, market-driven, non-immigrant, visa program. RESTAURANT PUBLIC AFFAIRS CONFERENCE - WHAT WE LEARNED

The National Restaurant Association hosted its annual Public Affairs Conference, bringing together over 600 independent and franchise restaurant owners for a discussion of politics, policies, and the future of the industry. They educated the audience on our top priorities and sent them to Capitol Hill for meetings with over 200 congressional offices. Learn more about what attendees heard and how the meetings went in the latest Congressional Update

NATIONAL UPDATES

DEI RESEARCH REVEALED AT SHOW

Landmark research conducted in a collaboration between the National Restaurant Association Educational Foundation, the Association, the Multicultural Foodservice & Hospitality Alliance, and Cornell University reveals the impact of genuine and effective Diversity, Equity and Inclusion strategies on foodservice workers' job satisfaction. Research reveals how a company's perceptions about its DEI effectiveness differs greatly from its employees' experiences. If diversity is not a priority, employees will leave the company ... and many are leaving the industry. Plan to attend a panel discussion that includes a presentation of the research by Dr. Susan Crystal-Mansour, the Foundation's VP, Program Impact; the operator's perspective from Sue Petersen, EVP, Inclusion, Diversity and People, Noodles & Company; and insights from Gerry Fernandez, President & Founder of MFHA. It's on Sat., May 21, 4 p.m. CT, at the Restaurant Show.
